OCEANAIRE TOWERS

This project is a complete renovation of a luxury condominium tower originally designed by Quincy Jones Architect. A close collaboration with Arts, William Dale Brantley Architect, has given life to a secluded garden in the back. It is an enchanting place and a visual feast to delight not only our senses but fulfill our innermost need to communion with nature in an urban environment. The composition of elements and materials carries on a delightful dialogue with the murmuring of the fountains, and as the light of the sun swoops across the garden, an ethereal realm is created.
